HOVERING OVER THE HELLESPONT

British Take Mitylene.

By Cable and Associated Press.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 14.—A detachment of blue-jackets and marines from a British iron-clad, accompanied by a battery of light field pieces and several galling guns, landed yesterday morning at Sighi, on the Island of Mitylene, formally occupying that place in the name of the Queen of England. There are good harbors at Sighi and it is supposed the British naval officers at Mitylene intend to fortify the island to make it a coaling station and rendezvous for British Mediterranean fleets. Sighi is on the coast of Mitylene and is about sixty miles from the mouth of the Dardanelles.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—Under ordinary circumstances little or no credence would have been placed in this alarming rumor, but coupled with a story broadly circulated Saturday that Great Britain, in view of the Russian practical coercion of Turkey in regard to the passage through the Dardanelles of vessels belonging to her volunteer fleet intended to occupy the Island of Tenedos, at the entrance of the Hellespont or Dardanelles, more serious attention is paid to this dispatch from Constantinople. The island of Mitylene would form a most advantageous position, from which Great Britain could control the waters of the Hellespont.

A decided feeling of uneasiness was caused in diplomatic and financial circles here by the receipt of a dispatch announcing that Sighi, on the west coast of the Island of Mitylene, an island belonging to Turkey, near the coast of Asia Minor, and within steaming distance of the Dardanelles, had been occupied by a detachment of British troops or marines, who landed there from a British iron-clad. The island is within 25 miles of Hellespont, has an area of 276 square miles and a population of 40,000. It has good harbors and fertile soil. Upon the opening of the Bosphorus this morning there was a general weakening of prices, due to the reported action of Great Britain in landing the troops at Sighi.

FRANKFORT, Sept. 14.—The report that Great Britain had seized the port of the Island of Mitylene was circulated here this morning, and its effect weakened prices on the Bourse.

By Cable and Associated Press.
OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—A British army officer on his way to inspect the defenses of British Columbia, says that his government intends to strengthen the defenses of Canada on both oceans and along the frontier on the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes, and that ships and armament of the Atlantic and Pacific squadrons will be greatly strengthened. At Halifax the British government is building immense fortifications. He says the general belief in England is that trouble with the United States is inevitable.

By Cable and Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—A "Hold Your Wheat" circular, issued to members of the Farmers Alliance from St. Paul, and higher cables, in spite of heavy receipts, caused wheat to open higher this morning. December opened all the way from 96 1/2 to 97 1/2. After numerous fluctuations the price rose to 98 1/2, easing off to 98 at 12:30.

By Cable and Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—A report has reached this city that the Czar and Czarina intend to visit Emperor William soon, and that Emperor William will visit St. Petersburg in October. The report is received with skepticism here.

By Cable and Associated Press.

LEBON, Sept. 14.—The steamer Mollie, which has Balmaceda's silver aboard, bound from Montevideo to Southampton, has arrived here.

London Excited.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—As soon as the report of the occupation of Mitylene by the British forces was received here there was considerable excitement. Up to 5:30 p.m. there was no official utterance upon the subject. Reporters and correspondents by the score have called at the foreign office and at the Admiralty, but officials on duty decline to confirm the report that Great Britain has taken action in the Dardanelles question. A dispatch was received from Constantinople stating the occupation of the island of Mitylene was an accomplished fact and that it had found echo on all the continental Bourses to-day. The general opinion seems to be that if the British forces had not landed in the neighborhood of the Dardanelles neither the Foreign office nor the Admiralty would have refused to deny the rumor calculated to awaken the gravest apprehensions in financial and diplomatic circles.

Government officials who have been questioned upon the Mitylene incident deny having any knowledge of the landing of British forces at Sighi. They say, however, that a detachment of blue-jackets may possibly have landed there for drill purposes.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The Herald's Callao, Peru, cable, under date of September 13, says: "The Chilean Junta war-ship, Trumao, which arrived here a few days ago to take back to Valparaiso the torpedo boat, Condell, and transport Imperiale, late of the Balmaceda fleet, sailed to-day for that port with them. Several prominent members of the Balmacedan government who took refuge on foreign war-ships in the harbor of Valparaiso after that city was captured by the Junta's troops, arrived here to-day. Among them was Vicuna, who, during the ascendancy of Balmaceda was elected as his successor to the Presidency of Chili. Senor Domingo Goday, ex-Minister of State and Foreign Affairs and Balmaceda's brother also are of the party."

ZANZIBAR, Sept. 14.—In the recent fight between a German corps under Captain Zetewick and a body of natives, three hundred of Zetewick's blacks were killed and all the guns and munitions were lost. Among the missing are Captain Zetewick, Lieutenants Fietewitz and Pierch, Dr. Dunschow and four non-commissioned officers. Only two commissioned officers and two non-commissioned officers are known to have escaped.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—J. W. Fowler, attorney for the Harney Peak Tin Mining Company of Rapid City, S. D., is in this city. He says an English syndicate has taken and paid for stock in the company to the amount of $3,000,000 of $15,000,000, at which the company was stocked. Fowler says the company will have tin on the market in large quantities within a year.

Methodist Conference.

PACIFIC GROVE (Cal.), Sept. 14.—The stewards of the conference claimants fund made a report of the collections for this fund and stated that $6,415 was received, including that from the Methodist book concern, and this sum has been divided among 31 worn out preachers and widows and orphans of deceased ministers. Dr. Thompson reported the work of the American Bible Society, which are usually brought forth on the last day of the conference. The report on education stated that the University of the Pacific has 220 students, and Napa College had 225 students enrolled during the past year, and that $25,000 had been raised on the endowment of the last named college. Dr. Kirby was recommended as agent of the proposed San Francisco Theological college.

The conference passed a resolution asking the General Missionary Committee for a grant of $10,000 to enable the extension of work within the bounds of this conference. The missionary collection for the past year by districts are as follows: San Francisco district, $6,533; Napa district, $1,104; Sacramento district, $1,136; Oakland district, $2,404.

MADEIRA, Sept. 14.—Official information is received here from the scene of the floods now devastating the Province of Toledo. According to the news received, two thousand people perished and an immense amount of damage was done.

Serious storms and floods are reported in various parts of Spain. Railway communication is interrupted at several points. The Amarguillo overflowed its banks destroying the town of Consuegra and flooding several villages. The work of relieving the destitute in the flooded districts is very difficult. Floods derailed a train near Castillejo, and one person was killed and three injured. A house collapsed at Toledo and six persons were crushed to death, and many people were drowned.

By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—The case of M. B. Curtis, the actor charged with the murder of Policeman Grant, came up before Police Judge Rix this morning. Curtis' attorney objected to the case being transferred from Police Court No. 2 and asked for a continuance until Friday. Judge Rix said the transfer was regularly made and granted a continuance until Wednesday, pending the inquest on Grant's remains, which takes place to-morrow.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Robert Bell, assistant sexton of Calvary Church, was arraigned in the Police Court to-day charged with rape, seduction and revolting crime, and six of his victims, girls ranging in age from 14 to 16 years, confronted him. The stories of the girls reveal a series of heinous crimes extending over a period of ten months. The prisoner was held without bail for examination.

IMPORTANT MEETING.

Of The State Board of Assessors And Equalization.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
CARSON CITY, Sept. 14.—The State Board of Assessors and Equalization met at 1 o'clock to-day for the first time under the new law. Present, Governor Colcord Chairman, Attorney General Torreyson, Controller Horton, Secretary of State Grey, State Treasurer Egan, and Clerk Vanderleith. Governor Colcord stated that he thought the Board should allow any taxpayer to come before them and give any information he might be possessed of and that the assessment of railroads be postponed until a day or two before the close of the two-week session.

General Torreyson said that he considered it the duty of the Board to assess and equalize property at its actual cash value; that was the law and that was what the Board was called upon to do.

Mr. Egan said it was pretty hard to make a change this year, and that he did not understand the law.

General Torreyson said that he had not the confidence in assessors that Egan had; that in no event could any individual suffer; that the county could be notified that their assessment had been raised or lowered, so much, and let them raise or lower the rate accordingly.

Mr. Egan said that there was a time when Storey paid half the taxes of the State, but that the Grand Jury took hold of it and "me and Charley Foreman concluded that a low valuation and a high assessment would be right and that it had been so since he came to the conclusion that the treasury was plumb full and we went to work and raised the rate and lowered the valuation."

The chairman said that he did not consider the discussion was leading to anything, and asked what the Board pleased in reference to assessing the railroad and would ask if the Board desired the clerk to make out a digest of the returns of all the railroad property assessed.

The Clerk read from the report of the N. C. & O. R. R., presented by E. Gest, that the whole road was valued at one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Mr. Gest's report goes on to show that there is not much of his line worth owning, and proceeds to give the country through which the road runs a dressing down that is not calculated to build up much property on his line, and winds up by saying that no taxes should be levied on the so-called railroad.

Here the Board entered into a general discussion of what course of procedure would be the best for them to pursue. The Board fixed the hour of 10 o'clock a.m. for the daily meeting.

Clerk Vanderleith was instructed to compile the railroad statistics for the use of the Board in arriving at their conclusion.

Nothing was said that led the GAZETTE man to draw any conclusion as to what the Board intended to do, but they are all working with honesty of purpose and will do what they think is right.

The Secretary was instructed to notify each road that the Board was assessing railroads and any officers had the privilege of coming before the Board previous to the assessment being made and giving such information as they deemed necessary for the information of the Board. Adjourned to meet at 10 o'clock to-morrow.

In order to present to the world what Nevada is capable of doing in an agricultural way, the GAZETTE will arrange anything sent to it, in an attractive manner at the Pavilion during Fair week. Apples and other fruit, grain of all kinds, potatoes of every description, hay, etc., will be arranged, due credit given, and everything necessary to make an attractive display, carried out. We make this offer in order to enable those who cannot come to the Fair to send something; and again a farmer who cannot afford the time, for instance, of preparing but one box of apples for exhibition would hesitate about putting it in alone, when, if exhibited in a State collection, it would show off to better advantage. Parties sending in any article can rest assured of having it properly entered, and if awarded a premium the same will be forwarded to them as soon as collected. Exhibits are respectfully solicited, not only from the farmers in Nevada, but from those in Lassen, Modoc, Sierra and Plumas counties, California. All who wish to avail themselves of our offer should carefully mark their names on the articles sent and write the GAZETTE that such and such a thing had been sent for exhibition. It will save us lots of trouble by sending the truck for exhibition the week before Fair.

SATURDAY NIGHT the town was left in darkness for the reason that the County Commissioners refused to stand the raise of the Electric Light Company from $18 to $15 per light per month. It was no doubt the company's privilege to cut out all arc lamps if it saw fit to do so. The following may be of interest to the people and the Commissioners:

"Commencing October 1st, Vallejo, Cal., will be illuminated by sixty-two arc lamps of 2,000 candle power each at a cost of $5 90 a lamp per month. The enterprise was formed of local capital. The company has in connection with the arc lights a system of incandescent lighting for commercial purposes. The plant embraces the latest improvements in electric lighting, and representatives from neighboring towns, where as high as $12 is paid for arc lamps of 1,200 candle power, were present to witness the trial."

But as Reno is a Nevada town, the Electric Light Company has a right to suck her dry—if they can.

Frank Rowland of Long Valley informs the Sacramento Bee that the Irrigation Company means business and will dam the waters of Lone Valley Creek. Why the Lassen Mail and the Reno GAZETTE should call the company a fraud Mr. Rowland does not know.—[Reno Journal.]

The GAZETTE called no one a fraud. We simply stated that we were lead to the belief that the men engaged in operating in desert land in Honey Lake were inducing intending settlers to buy land and water before they had any to sell. We have the names of men who have paid in hundreds of dollars for water the company have no title to as yet, and for land it has simply a filing on.

The Sacramento Bee says: We are tired of hearing politicians denounce any coin stamped by this Government as "a dishonest dollar." The only dishonesty in the matter comes from the shameless rascality of the shysters and their literary Hessians, who depreciate the value of money of the Government to which they owe allegiance, and make of it a means to squeeze more and more from the poor. The dollar is honest enough. The men who make it their tool are the scoundrels.

It is appalling to contemplate the effect of a war in Europe under present conditions. The world has never seen such efficiency in drill, equipment and numbers as the armies of France, Germany, England, Russia and the other powers are now possessed of. A declaration of war will be to turn death loose armed with a mowing machine instead of a scythe, and he would harvest millions before it closed.

HOW WATERLOO WAS

Napoleon's Version of It from a Recently Published Account.

The Great General's Description of the Famous Battle in Which His Forces Suffered Severe Defeat.

Napoleon's version of the battle of Waterloo, which, so the London Globe asserts, has never been published before in English, is to appear in the next number of the United Service Gazette. The Globe prints the following extracts: After detailing the preparations for the battle Napoleon says: "The campaign commenced, the enemy supported the troops he had advanced to guard the wood by thirty pieces of cannon. We, on our side, also posted some artillery. At one time Prince Jerome became master of the whole wood, and the whole English army retired behind a ridge. The Count d'Erlon then attacked the village of Mont Saint Jean; he supported his attack with eighty pieces of cannon. He commenced there an overpowering cannonade, which must have greatly harassed the English army. The whole action took place on the plain. A brigade of Count d'Erlon's First division took possession of the village of Mont Saint Jean; a second brigade was charged by a corps of English cavalry, which inflicted upon it great loss. At the same moment a division of English cavalry charged upon Count d'Erlon's battery on its right and dismounted several guns; but Gen. Meland's cuirassiers charged this division, of which three regiments were routed and fled."

In the afternoon the Prussian division became engaged with Count Lobau's skirmishers, and the whole strength of the reserves was held ready to assist Count Lobau and crush the Prussian corps when it should advance. He continued: "This done, the emperor intended to make an attack in the direction of the village of Mont Saint Jean, which it was expected would prove a decisive blow, but by a movement of impetuosity, so frequent in our military annals, and which has so often been disastrous to us, the cavalry in reserve, perceiving a retrograde movement of the English to place themselves under cover from our batteries, from which they had already suffered so much, crowned the heights of Mont Saint Jean and charged the infantry. This movement, made at the right moment, and backed by the reserves, ought to have decided the day; made separately, and before the operations on the right were completed, it proved fatal. Having no means to countermand it, the enemy showing large masses of infantry and of cavalry, and the two divisions of cuirassiers being engaged, the whole of our cavalry started at the same moment to support their comrades."

"Then during three hours they made numerous charges, by which we gained the breaking of several squares and six flags of the British infantry, an advantage hardly commensurate with the losses sustained by our cavalry from grape shot and musketry. It was impossible to use our reserves of infantry until the attack of the Prussians came on our front, and the result was a disaster. The emperor sent Gen. Ducheane with the Young Guard and several reserve batteries. The enemy was checked, was repulsed, and retreated; he had exhausted his forces, and there was nothing further to fear from him. This was the moment suitable for an attack on the center of the enemy. As the cuirassiers were suffering from musketry fire, four battalions of the Young Guard were sent to support the cuirassiers, to aid their position, and if it were possible to disengage and withdraw a part of our cavalry to the plain. Two other battalions were sent to hold the eminence on the extreme left of the division which had maneuvered on our flanks in order that there might be no cause for uneasiness in this direction; the rest were placed in reserve, one part to occupy the eminence in rear of Mont Saint Jean, the other on the plain behind the field of battle, which formed our line of retreat."

"Under these circumstances the battle was gained; we occupied all the positions that were occupied by the enemy at the commencement of the action; our cavalry having been too quick and badly employed, we could no longer hope for a decisive success. But Marshal Grouchy, having learned of the movement of the Prussian corps, marched in the rear of that corps, which assured us a splendid success for the next day. After eight hours of firing and of charges of infantry and of cavalry the whole army saw with satisfaction the battle gained and the field of battle in our power. At half-past eight the four battalions of the Young Guard, which had been sent to the plain beyond Mont Saint Jean to support the cuirassiers, being inconveniently by the enemy's grape shot, advanced with bayonets fixed to sweep off its batteries. "The day closed in a charge on their flank by several English squadrons broke their ranks; the fugitives passed the river, the neighboring regiments, who saw some troops belonging to the guard in disorder, thought it was the Old Guard and gave way. The cry arose: 'All is lost! The guard is beaten back!' The soldiers even maintained that at several points wreathed reconnoisseurs cried out: 'Gave qui pent!' He that as it may, terror and panic immediately spread over the whole battle-field all fled in the greatest disorder along the line of communication—soldiers, gunners, wagons loaded with the Old Guard, which was in reserve, was pressed back and carried away. In an instant the army was only a confused mass—all the guns were abandoned and it was impossible to reform a corps. The enemy perceived this extraordinary confusion, sent forward columns of cavalry; the disorder augmented, the confusion of the night prevented the rallying of the troops and showing them their mistake."

Antiquity of the Heavens. One of the earliest and most annoying of insects is that which infests the bedding. An English naturalist has discovered proofs that this domestic pest was quite common in the armies of the world at least a hundred and twenty years before the Christian era, and that he was over a sailor, as the fleets of that day had their timbers stocked with this breed of nocturnal prowlers.

Peculiar

In Combination, Proportion, and Process of preparation, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 doses one dollar." Other medicines require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has attained such popularity in so short a time. It is Peculiar to Itself.

Peculiar in the originality and effectiveness of its advertising, its methods are continually being copied by competitors. Peculiar in the way it wins the people's confidence, one bottle always sells another.

JOTTINGS.

Straining every nerve—Pulling a tooth. Imported cigars at Thurston's two for a quarter, and domestic from 5 cents up.

There's one thing, as it is so true it might as well be said: to most of us poor Monday's blue for painting Sunday red. Beer only 5 cents a glass at Jake Becker's.

"Where are you going, my pretty maid?" "Going to cooking school, sir," she said. "Can I go with you, my pretty maid?" "We don't cook veal to-day," she said. Board at the Riverside hotel.

Scene, Windsor Castle. Young woman seeing the sights asks a man, whom she meets, "Butler, is there any chance to see the Queen?" Gentleman addressed, with dignity: I am not the butler, I am the Prince of Wales.

"How lucky! In your pocket?" "Latest styles of hats and trimmings, sails, mules ears, feathers and ribbons at Miss Emma Gibbs'.

Mr. J. R. Shepard, manager of the Fair Co-operative Mercantile Institution, Paris, Idaho, says that for colic produced by change of drinking water, Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy without an equal. It is quick and effective and leaves no bad results. For sale by J. B. McCullough.

Frivolous Hopes, Yet Mayed. From a letter written by Mrs. Ada H. Hurd of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Saviour, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles; it has cured me and I thank God I am now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at W. Pinniger's drugstore, regular size 50 c. and $1.

Things Worth Remembering. When you feel a kind of goodness about the stomach it is a sign that your food does not sit well and that you are about to have a fit of indigestion.

When you begin to feel nervous and are unable to sit still comfortably, when your clothes suddenly seem to lose their fit and become so tight in places the fit of indigestion is surely upon you.

When this fit of indigestion is repeated from day to day it finally resolves itself into dyspepsia.

Chronic dyspepsia will surely make the happiest life a hell on earth.

Remember that the worst case of indigestion or dyspepsia, or both, and that a regular course of them, say two every week or week or ten days will act as a preventive of either complaint.

Good Looks. Good Looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of the vital organs. If the liver be inactive, you have a bilious look; if your stomach is disordered you have a dyspeptic look and if your kidneys be affected you have a pinched look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alterative and Tonic acts directly on these vital organs. Cures Pimples, Blisters, Boils and gives a good complexion. Sold at Wm. Pinniger's drugstore, 50 c. per bottle.

Buckley's Arnica Salve. The best salve in the world for cuts, bruise, abrasions, ulcers, skin rheum, leprosy, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions and positively cures piles or no pay required! It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. 10 c. cents per box. For sale by Wm. Pinniger.

For Over Fifty Years Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world.

Indignant? Yes indeed, to see you parading the streets. I thought you had such a dreadful headache. I did mother, but that dose of Cephalin cured it instantly. All druggists sell it.

Baby cried, Mother sighed, Doctor prescribed: Castoria!

IRRIGATION CONGRESS.

Many Able and Scientific Men Among the Delegates. Speaking of the Irrigation Congress to assemble in Salt Lake City to-morrow, Colonel Hinton said at the Department of Agriculture, Washington, as follows:

"It will be an able body. The delegation from Colorado will be headed by Professor Louis G. Carpenter, the ablest young hydrographer in the West. Mr. Lagrange of Greeley, probably the ablest practical irrigationist in the State, will be a member. There are other prominent and able men on the Colorado delegation. G. W. Gregory of Garden City, Kan., and Judge Henry of Lawrence are among the delegates from that State. Mr. Gregory is the special agent of the Department of Agriculture for the arid plains region. New Mexico will send among others, Governor Prince and Colonel Frost of Santa Fe, Colonel Fountain of Las Cruces and M. M. Fels of Raton. The Arizona delegation is a very strong one; so also are the delegations from Montana, Washington and Idaho. The California delegation will include Mr. Maslin, the President of the State Board of Trade; C. C. Wright, author of the "Irrigation District Laws;" Theodore Van Dyke of San Diego, and M. M. Holt of San Bernardino. Senator Stewart is expected from Nevada. General Jones, State Surveyor-General, Mr. Fulton, Manager of the State Board of Trade, and ex-United States Surveyor-General Irish will be among the Nevada delegates. The irrigation says: "The sole purpose of calling this congress is to induce the National and State Governments to enact laws whereby these arid lands can be best and quickest brought into the market, settled and developed. Without offering any suggestions whatever as to the plan to be pursued or the legislation to be suggested, each delegate is requested to form his own ideas as to the most beneficial and feasible legislation calculated to bring about the development and upbuilding of the agricultural lands of the Western States and Territories."

THE TRACK.

Lively Scenes on the Quarter Stretch Any Morning. All is life and activity at the Fair grounds and the quarter stretch presents an animated scene about 9 o'clock on any morning now-a-days. A GAZETTE reporter visited the track yesterday and found about 30 horses in active training for the races. Theo. Winters has several, and with old Marion, the dam of all his best ones, and El Rio Rey, followed by about 30 others, make a valuable procession and add much to the Fair.

Reno is getting into the harness with some very good horses this season. The little brown horse Anteo, Jr., sold a year or two ago by Tom Keating to Wm. Blanchard on the Meadows, is coming out, and promises to be a district winner this fall. The little stallion was worked a very little last year for the first time and was put into active training about one month ago. The well-known horseman, Charley Vanina, is handling Anteo, and he does it well. Charley drove him a mile out in 2:35 yesterday, with a runner by his side. He promises to trot in 2:30 or less Fair week, and will make the district "get-up-and-go!" if they beat him. Besides Anteo, Mr. Vanina has quite a number of other fast ones that he is handling and will make a record with his stable. Charley is a race rider of large experience. He will be remembered as the rider of the celebrated quarter horse, Rondo, that made such a fine finish on the track here two years ago. He will ride for Winters this season.

A BOLD THIEF.

A Man Goes Through a Pullman Sleeper Saturday Night Between Auburn and Sacramento. Some sneak thief entered a Pullman sleeper between Sacramento and Auburn Saturday night and robbed the passengers while the porter was sleeping the sleep of the just. He cut the pocket out of a man's trousers that were hanging on the hook by his berth and got $200. Another man lost $40 dollars and still another a gold watch and chain. Willis Bender was on the same sleeper and did not get robbed. He thinks the reason why he escaped the avaricious greed of the robber was that 15 cents was too small potatoes. He was playing for a stake and probably knew that Mr. Bender had been spending a week in the city.

To the Public.

Notice is hereby given that E. De Ricles, E. C. Whitney, Ed. Driscoll, E. J. Drexler, E. Barry, George Barry or B. L. Taylor are not agents of or authorized to represent the United States Mutual Accident Association of the city of New York in any form or manner, and that none of them ever had any connection with or authority from said Association. The public is warned not to pay any moneys to or have any dealings with any of such persons for or on account of the United States Mutual Accident Association, 320 and 324 Broadway, New York City.

JAMES R. FITCHER, Secretary and General Manager, New York, September 9, 1891.

Press the Button.

The First National Bank is having electric burglar signals put in, connecting the bank with the Justice Court and Constable's office. In case of an attempted robbery any one in the bank can "press the button," and while the officers or employees are covered by the robber, raking in the coin, "we will do the rest." It is a fine idea and should be universally adopted among banks.

"Faint."

This popular spectacular drama will be presented to-morrow night, with Louis Morrison as "Mephisto," and Mr. Morrison tells Goethe's story well. He presents the moral and pathos of the tale in a winning way. The supporting company is said to be well balanced, and Reno can expect a good show. Seats on sale at Pinniger's drugstore.

THE RAIN-MAKER IN SALT LAKE.

Disappointed in Finding Wet Weather Frequenting There. Melbourne, the rain-maker, is in Salt Lake City, but was much disappointed when he alighted from the cars and found, from the muddy condition of the streets, that the old fashioned rain-maker had got there ahead of him, and poured down nearly an inch of rain, thereby dispensing with all need of his services. It is not certain he will remain there to attend the Irrigation Congress, for he refuses to give away his method of operating as told by the following from the Salt Lake Tribune:

"In answer to a query as to how he succeeded in getting up these rains, Melbourne first smiled a faint smile and then repeated the process. When he had completed he remarked that he was not ready just at present to state the methods used, but he intimated that the precipitation was caused by the action of gases produced by the mingling of chemical salts. That was all. He could not be induced to yield up any more information."

And so the delegates will be deprived of the opportunity of comparing artificial rain with water storage as the best means of irrigation, for there will remain a doubt about man's power to control the precipitation of tears from heaven, until many experiments demonstrate the certainty of the method by which it may be done.

En Route to Salt Lake.

Quite a number of California delegates were passengers on yesterday morning's train en route to Salt Lake to attend the Irrigation Convention. Among the number a GAZETTE reporter noticed the following: Alameda—J. A. Waymire, J. P. Irish, F. H. Meyer. Colusa—W. S. Green, G. B. Harden. Fresno—E. H. Tucker, G. W. Mordecai, T. L. Reed. Kern—M. F. Taylor. Los Angeles—J. de Barth Shorb. Napa—M. M. Estee. Orange—E. E. Edwards, J. H. Mooser. Placer—Allan Towle. Sacramento—J. R. McDonald. San Bernardino—L. M. Holt, F. C. Finkle, A. C. Fish, H. W. Patton. San Diego—J. W. Nance, J. D. Schuyler. San Francisco—W. H. Hall, W. H. Mills, H. I. Willey. Santa Clara—J. A. Clayton, C. A. Fuller, Tyler Beach. Stanislaus—C. C. Wright. Tulare—P. Y. Baker. Yuba—E. A. Forbes.

First Sugar at Chino.

Harvesting in the beet fields is being pushed vigorously now. The work has been in progress a little over two weeks, and about 2,800 tons have been delivered at the factory. More could have been delivered if they could have been worked up, and the sheds are full. Most of the beets so far harvested are very tender and the tonnage was lighter than on the semi-moist land. But the quality of the beets has been remarkably good—even better than anticipated. Some tests have shown as high as 20 per cent sugar—an extraordinary yield. It was stated by Eastern chemists last spring that no beets had ever been raised containing 20 per cent of sugar. Juice from a number of beets is used in making tests. Tests of single beets have shown as high as 22 per cent sugar, but of course that is exceptional.

Hormon Methods.

The Salt Lake Tribune says: "A farm wagon drawn by a mule and an ox and driven by a superannuated Latter-day Saint, was a sight to be seen on Main street yesterday morning. The animals had been feeding on lucern and one voracious spectator avers that the mule used the near horn of the ox for a tooth pick."

Very primitive and far behind the times, but if the reporter had traveled through Southern Utah 18 years ago and seen the women working in the fields with rake and hoe and clad in jersey lineys and shod with stoggs, he could have seen another phase of Mormon life in all its mockery of civilization. "But the world do move" and the sinners are superseding the saints in Utah and the relics of barbarism will in time disappear.

Shakers of All Creeds and Kinds.

Are to be found in every locality visited by chills and fever. The very animals exhibit in such plague-fested regions symptoms of the dire infection. If experience has proved in the domain of medicine, anything conclusively, it is that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will not only eradicate from the system every vestige of the miasma-born complaint, but effectually defend residents and temporary sojourners in malarial scourged localities against it. There is a general consensus of opinion among medical men, no less than in the minds of the public on this point. Not only on this continent, but in the tropics where malarial complaints assume their most virulent type, this incomparable medical safeguard is universally used and esteemed. Dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, dizziness and kidney trouble are all thoroughly remedied by the Bitters.

Procure it Before Leaving Home.

Dr. M. J. Davis is a prominent physician of Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, and has been actively engaged in the practice of medicine at that place for the past thirty-five years. On the 29th of last May, while in Des Moines, en route to Chicago, he was suddenly taken with an attack of diarrhoea. Having sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for the past seventeen years, and knowing its reliability, he procured a 25 cent bottle, two doses of which completely cured him. For sale by S. J. Hodgkinson.

Irrigation Delegates.

Among the passengers on the train yesterday, going to Salt Lake to attend the Irrigation Convention were, Col. John P. Irish, M. M. Estee and Alex. Badlam of California. If Badlam is given a chance to air his latest jokes, the Convention will not be a dry one, even if Melbourne, the rain-maker, fails to present a sample of the fluid which will form the principal topic of discussion.

Leonard Jerome's Remains. The remains of the late Leonard W. Jerome were transported from the first burial place, Kensal Green, England, and interred in the family vault at Greenwood, near New York, early in August. It was done privately by his relatives and was not known to his old friends until nearly a month after.

MRS. GRAHAM'S Cucumber and Elder Flower Cream.

Is not a cosmetic in the sense in which that term is popularly used, but permanently beautifies the skin by daily use gradually makes the complexion several shades whiter. It is a constant protection from the effects of sun and wind and prevents sunburn and freckles, and blackheads will never come while you use it. It cleanses the face better than soap and water, nourishes and builds up the skin tissues and thus prevents the formation of wrinkles. It gives the freshness, clearness and smoothness of skin that you had when a little girl. Every lady, old or young ought to use it, as it gives a more youthful appearance to any lady, and that permanently. It contains no acid, powder or alkali, and is as harmless as dew and as nourishing to the skin as dew is to the flower. Price $1.00 at all druggists and hardware stores, or at Mrs. Gervase Graham's establishment, 101 Post Street, San Francisco, where it treats ladies for all ailments of the face or figure. Ladies at a distance may order by mail. Send stamp for her little book, "How to be Beautiful."

BEN BUTLER MAD.

How He Recented a Slip on the Back While Running for President.

When Butler was running for the presidency he came to Chicago in the course of a campaigning tour and stopped at the Palmer house.

On the evening of his arrival, says the Chicago Post, he made a political speech from the Monroe street balcony of the hotel, and afterwards held an informal reception in the parlor. Great crowds flocked to the reception, and for two hours the dauntless campaigner was kept busy shaking hands and protesting that he was glad to see his callers.

Toward the latter part of the evening he grew very tired, and consequently very irritable, and when a tall, thin, bald-headed old gentleman came up and tapped him on the shoulder with a something and, no doubt, painful touch, his color rose.

"How are you, general?" inquired the old gentleman, in a tone of tender solicitude. "I'm durned glad to see you." "Well, I'm not durned glad to see you," shouted Gen. Butler, "and I want you to understand that if you slap me again I'll take the hide off you with this stick."

"Oswillikens!" exclaimed the old gentleman. "Just as full of fun as you always was, wasn't you?" "Well, I do you mean? Who are you, anyway?"

"Who am I? Well, I like that. Don't you recollect my face?" "No." "Why, I'm Benjamin Peters Hutchinson, the first client you ever had. Lord knows how many years ago, down in Massachusetts." And with that he slipped the general on the shoulder again.

Gen. Butler's ire was now at boiling point, and he raised the cane that he had been leaning upon and brought it down vigorously upon Mr. Hutchinson's recumbent back. The favorite bride gift of the Russian empress is one of furs, and fortunate, indeed, are the recipients of the splendid specimens she bestows. When the Princess Alexandra of Greece wedded the Grand Duke Paul of Russia, so czar and empress sent three driving gowns of fur to prevent the fragile bride experiencing ill effects from the change of climate. "One robe" was of sable fastened down the front with six clasps of real pearl, another of silver fur trimmed with bullion-gold cords, and the third of blue fox, the rarest fur in the world, confined with a girdle of diamonds.

"I'll teach you to slap me," he panted, "you, sir, I don't care if you were all the client I ever had, and all rolled into one. I'll teach you."

With admirable, if undignified alacrity, Mr. Hutchinson melted away and was lost in the crowd. The next man in line didn't offer to shake hands, and the general shortly afterward retired.

CURED BY CONFESSION.

Sam Thought He Had Been Kicked to Death, But He Hadn't.

Mr. T. received a message from his wife telling him "to hurry home quick, dear," says the Birmingham (Ala.) News. Mr. T. rushed home and found that his horse had kicked Sam, the colored hostler, in the region of the stomach, and he looked like a dying man. Sam thought he was going to die and began to unbuckle his sin-laden soul.

"Marse John, I see twine ter die, but before I go I want ter tell yer whar yer'll find dat bran new bridle yer bought de oder day and whar yer thought some nigger had stolen—it's up in de loft kivered wid hay. And yer recollect dat new lap robe dat yer thought fell out 'er de 'Zarbridge—dat's under de front drape. And de ole pistol wat was in de 'hero' draw, yer'll find dat in my trunk."

And various and sundry other things that had been missed at different times were mentioned by Sam and their whereabouts disclosed. When Sam had confessed his misdeeds he seemed to grow better—confession is good for the body as well as the soul. He finally recovered, but now moves about the premises with a penitent air.

Mr. T. thinks he has a valuable horse, which can thus kick a man in the stomach and make him disgorge a lot of stolen property.

AN ANCIENT WRECK.

Discovery of a Sunk Ship of the Time of Henry the Eighth.

A most interesting discovery has, according to the Interior, been made at the old Cinque Port of Sandwich. The Stour, a river which has, perhaps, more frequently changed its course than any other English river, has lately entered an old channel near its confluence with Pegwell bay, lying bare a wreck which has probably occupied its present position for several centuries. The vessel is one of foreign build, and the wood is in a fair state of preservation, owing to the fact that it has for many years been entirely embedded in the sand. On inspection it would appear that, from time to time, various attempts had been made to cut down the wreck, but the hull of the vessel is as yet pretty nearly intact. It is a matter of local history that a little over three hundred years ago, in the reign of Henry VIII., an Italian vessel, belonging to one of the popes, sank at the entrance of the then flourishing port of Sandwich. The sand silted round it, forming a great bank, and blocking up the entrance to the harbor, and it is recorded that, from this date, the prosperity of Sandwich as a seaport greatly declined. It is believed, with some show of reason, that the ancient wreck now discovered is identical with the papal Caryke, or Carriek, which sank at this spot in the reign of Henry VIII.

A VALUABLE OPINION.

It Brought a Lawyer a Comfortable Fortune.

The late A. T. Stewart was harassed by a certain treasury decision which vastly increased his payments of duties. His lawyer, says the New York Press, called one day about another matter. Stewart spoke in an exasperated way about the treasury decision.

"Let me see the decision," said the lawyer. After reading it through he said: "This law speaks of 'all silk' garments. Why don't you have a thread of worsted run into these goods when they are made abroad?"

"Will that come within the new law?" asked the great merchant.

"Certainly."

"How much do you want for that opinion?" asked Stewart a few months later.

"Fifty thousand dollars," said the lawyer. And he got it. He was modest, too, but a dollar went further in those days than it does now.

Stewart years after told his legal adviser that the casual suggestion made that day had been worth over one million five hundred thousand dollars to the merchant.

So the fifty thousand-dollar fee was not high.

THE QUEEN OF SNAKEHUNTERS.

A Young Tennessee Girl Kills Sixty-Three Rattlesnakes in One Day.

The country between Little and Big Black mountain is a great ginseng region, and the Parker family are noted as "sengens." The girls go out barefooted in the mountain, though the country is infested with rattlesnakes and copperheads, and dig the ginseng, for which they get good prices at the stores, and from which it is taken to Pennington Gap for shipment. But along Clover Fork for shipment. But along Clover Fork for shipment. But along Clover Fork for shipment.

Beckie Parker is about nineteen years of age, strong, healthy looking and handsome, but with a very determined face. She is a splendid rifle shot, and is often seen with her Winchester. She goes after ginseng barefooted and often alone. The roots are gathered in May and September, and during the month just passed she did a thriving business. One day, however, she came across a den of rattlesnakes. She had only stones and sticks with which to fight the desperate battle. Some of the snakes were considerably larger than a man's ankle, and a few as large as the calf of one's leg. For hours she fought them as they hissed and rattled around her. The mountain seemed filled with them, and no sound could be heard but their incessant and blood-curdling rattle. But the brave, determined girl battled with them until she exterminated every one that did not succeed in hiding among the crevices of rocks and in the dense brush. When she had crushed the head of the last one to be seen, she counted the dead, and there were just sixty-three.
